Two Common Types of Credit

- Installment credit allows the borrower to make monthly payments on principal and interest.

- Revolving credit, such as a credit card, allows the consumer to borrow up to a set maximum amount.
Installment Credit

- Mortgage loans
- Automobile loans
- Installment loans

Contract may include:
- Total purchase amount
- Required down payment
- Total financed amount
- Finance charges
- Number of payments
- Payment amounts
- Payment schedule
Common Forms of Installment Loans

- Installment sales credit
- Installment cash credit
- A single-payment loan
Revolving Credit

- Regular charge accounts
- Revolving charge accounts
Advantages of Using Credit

- Helps you make larger purchases
- Eliminates the need to carry cash
- Helps you establish credit history (as long as you pay your bills on time)
Disadvantages of Using Credit

- Credit can be costly
- It can tempt us to overspend
- It can do long-term financial damage

If you borrow $3,000.00 on a credit card at 21% interest and only pay the minimum payment of 2%, it will take 30 + years to pay off the balance.
Spending Your Future Income

- When you buy things on credit, you are obligating your future income.

- Items that are investments, such as a home, or items that are tools to help you earn money, such as a car to get to work.
Finance Charges

Total finance charges paid will depend upon the amount financed, the annual percentage rate and the length of the repayment period.
Annual Percentage Rate (APR)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Amount financed</th>
<th>Total interest charges are proportional to the amount financed</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Annual percentage rate</td>
<td>As the APR rate goes up, the total finance charges increase</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Length of repayment period</td>
<td>The longer the repayment period, the higher the finance charges</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Truth in Lending Law Act (TILA)

This law protects you against inaccurate and unfair credit billing and credit card practices. It requires lenders to provide you with loan cost information so that you can comparison shop for certain types of loans.
Cash versus Financing

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Cash purchase of car</th>
<th>Total Paid</th>
<th>Interest paid</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>$5,000.00 financed 36 months at 9% interest</td>
<td>$5,724.00</td>
<td>$724.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>36 payments of $159.00</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>$5,000.00 financed 48 months at 9% interest</td>
<td>$5,973.00</td>
<td>$973.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>48 payments of $124.00</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The longer the term of your loan, the more interest that you pay.
Building a Credit History

- How many times have you borrowed money?
- Did you pay it back on time?
- Were your payments late?

When you sign up for and pay utilities, you are building your credit history.
Credit Scoring and Credit Reports

- Credit bureaus provided credit reports to potential lenders and employers.
- The “Fair Credit Reporting Act” limits the sharing of financial information to firms that have a legal purpose to evaluate this information.
- You may access your credit report every 12 months free of charge.
