Imagine Who Your Friends Will Be

Imagine who your friends will be and what you will enjoy doing in the future. Think in terms of where you will meet your friends and who you will have something in common with, not actual names. For example, at 17, most of your friends will be people your own age that go to school with you.

When I am 21, my circle of friends will include:
For fun, we:

When I am 40, my circle of friends will include:
For fun, we:

When I am 50, my circle of friends will include:
For fun, we:

When I am 60, my circle of friends will include:
For fun, we: